

Rock of Wisdom School, Melfort, Zimbabwe

The school's agricultural project includes growing maize. The pictures above show its planting last October, and its growth by March. Other vegetables and fruit trees have also been planted. The school hopes to eventually be self-sufficient in food.

In May the maize was harvested. It is a major part of the children's staple diet. Above you can see the children eating finely ground maize meal (sadza), along with beans that were donated by a local supporter. Together this provides a nutritious meal.

Here in the UK, in February we applied to the Charity Commission to become a registered charity. We are still in a long queue waiting for our application to be processed...
